baum and Warren Marshall.

SHIPPING NOTES.
The Waleale is expected in from Kauai tomorrow.

The Kauai sails at 4 today for Elele and Hanapepe.

A d-sifter from the Hera has been captured by the water front police.

The James Makee will very probably sail again for Kapaa tomorrow afternoon.

The schooner Alice Kimball sails tomorrow afternoon for Olowalu and Kihai, Maui.

The ship Henry B. Hyde has cleared for Delaware Breakwater with a cargo of 7014 bags sugar.

The Transport Thomas was unable to get away for Manila yesterday. She will sail at 8 a. m. tomorrow.

Five sailors were sent to Kahuhi in the Claudine yesterday afternoon to join various vessels at that port.

The Keauhou returned from Kauai this morning. Among other things in the report is the statement that, on the trip up, a case of beer was dropped overboard.

A reception was given aboard the James Rolph last night by way of celebrating the marriage of one of the Rolph sons in San Francisco. There were quite a number of Captain Dedrick's friends aboard.

Bangalore to Kahuhi.
The Bangalore will very probably get away for Kahuhi this afternoon to load sugar for San Francisco. She will have to be towed and the Helene will undoubtedly be the steamer to do the work. If the Bangalore does not get away today she will sail tomorrow.

Cruiser Protet.
The French cruiser Protet, Germinet, sailed for Tahiti and other islands of the South Seas this forenoon. A reception to a number of friends was held aboard just before departure.

The officers are delighted with the many pleasant experiences they have had during their short stay in Honolulu and are in hopes that they will be sent back to this port at no very distant date.

Life Insurance Company in Russia.
Under date of April 14, 1900, Consul Smith writes from Moscow:

The capital invested by insurance companies in Russia amounts to 118,- 000,000 rubles ($209,000,000). The number of persons insured in 1899 was 21,- 114, the insurance amounting to 71,- 000,000 rubles ($35,500,000). Of the above amount, 41,840,710 rubles ($20,- 920,355) was received by American insurance companies; the balance by Russian.

The Russian people, adds Mr. Smith, are only beginning to realize the advantages of life insurance.

J. F. Winter, U. S. Consul at Annaburg writes the State Department:

Of the $18,000,000,000 worth of commerce done by all nations, England's share is 18.3 per cent, Germany's 10.8 per cent, and 9.7 per cent falls to the United States.

Germany has built up her foreign commerce at England's expense; and the United States, which is just entering the field, is building up a great foreign trade at the expense of both.

In Australia, in Africa, in South Africa, and in China the commercial representatives of each nation are tening for vantage ground upon which to build safe markets for home industries.

Formerly, English buyers bought manufactured goods in Germany at ridiculously cheap prices. These goods were forwarded to great merchant houses in London to be resold in foreign markets. Today, these same goods for the most part are shipped from the district of manufacture direct to the buyer in foreign countries. The mid-dleman's profits now go to enrich the German manufacturer and laborer.

The following causes have contributed to Germany's success in competition with England:

First, German-manufactured goods are cheaper and in some cases better.

Second, German merchants adapt themselves entirely to the wants of their customers. Industrial commissions have been sent out to South America, Mexico, China, Japan, South Africa, etc., to study and report upon the conditions and needs of the people in those countries.

Third, the German traveling men have a better technical knowledge of their branches and are familiar with more languages than agents of other countries.

They are active, resourceful, and gifted with tact, three essential things in selling goods in a foreign country.

If we ever hope to obtain the first place commercially, we must watch and, to a certain extent, adopt the weapons of our rivals, viz: Technical schools, trained traveling men, permanent and able consular officers who are keenly alive to all commercial interests, a merchant marine large enough to carry three fourths of our exports, and sound money.

LITTLEFIELD ON SPRUCE GUM.
Littlefield of Maine, who made a deep impression on the House by his speeches on the Roberts case and on the Porto Rico bill, has been quiet recently, says a writer.

He sits in his seat, his jaws moving in a deliberate, rhythmic manner.
Some of his fellow members have suspected that he was preparing by panto-mimic rehearsal for another "effort of his life." But in a recent burst of confidence the successor of Mr. Dingley explained what was the matter. Like many other sons of Maine, Mr. Littlefield's thoughts in spring turn cravingly to spruce gum. When the leaves began to come out in Franklin square, upon which his windows in Washington look out, Mr. Littlefield began to wonder what kind of a crop of gum the last winter had produced in Maine. He made inquiries at the Washington drug stores and got no satisfaction. Then he sent to the wholesale druggists in Portland. By way of response he received a pound box of "as fine spruce gum as I ever saw in my life." The rest is told in the look of contentment and the continued mastification. "Of all gum," said Mr. Littlefield to Mr.
Bowersock of Kansas, with a degree of enthusiasm which was wholly wasted, "the Ne plus ultra, the Erin go braugh, the E pluribus unum, is the spruce gum of Maine."

Wire fences are blamed for damage to live stock by lightning stroke. The director of the Iowa Weather and Crop Service recommends the use of earth wires at intervals along the fences.

Russia's Asiatic possessions are three times the size of Great Britain's, but hold only 23,000,000 inhabitants, as compared with England's 297,000,000 subjects.
